3) Use of Service Animals and Support Persons

Camp Northland's Accessibility Policy

- a. If a person with a disability is accompanied by a guide dog or other service animal, Camp Northland will ensure that the person is permitted to enter Camp Northland's facilities with the animal and to keep the animal with him or her unless the animal is otherwise excluded by law. Where a service animal is excluded by law, Camp Northland will ensure that other measures are available to enable the person with a disability to obtain, use and benefit from the camp's goods and services. When we cannot easily identify that an animal is a certified service animal, our staff may ask a person to provide documentation (template, letter or form) from a regulated health professional that confirms the person needs the service animal for reasons relating to their disability. A service animal can be easily identified through visual indicators, such as when it wears a harness or a vest, or when it helps the person perform certain tasks. The service animal must be under the care and control of the individual at all times. The following are conditions of having a service animal on site:

- Owners are able to manage their animal's food, hygiene, health, safety and behaviour independently
- The animal's presence in a cabin does not create physical or mental health issues for other campers or staff
- If Camp Directors determine that having a specific certified service animal in camp is unworkable, the Directors will insist that the animal leave the premises

If service animals are prohibited by another law, or regulatory matter, or conflicting lawful interest, we will do the following to ensure people with disabilities can access our goods, services or facilities:

- Explain why the animal is excluded
- Discuss with the customer another way of providing goods, services or facilities

- b. If a person with a disability is accompanied by a support person, Camp Northland will ensure that both persons are permitted to enter the camp facilities, and that the person with a disability is not prevented from having access to the support person. Camp Northland may require a person with a disability to be accompanied by a support person when in a camp facility, but only if a support person is necessary to protect the health or safety of the person with a disability or the health or safety of others in the facility. If an amount is payable by a support person for admission, or otherwise, to a premise, Camp Northland will ensure notice is given in advance about the amount.
